Best Anti-Aging (RF) Facial

Skin Rebirth Facial
BIOSKIN

The lines across your face tell people a story about how you lived. That may be true but let's leave the storytelling to much later. Now is the time to be working on delaying the formation of wrinkles.

As we age, our skin loses elastin and gradually gets drier. On top of that, our skin is also less able to protect itself from damage. While some of it may be genetic, there are ways by which we can control the aging process.

One such method is Bioskin's Skin Rebirth Facial, a fractional RF treatment. What that means is, that it resurfaces your skin layer by performing a microfractional ablation and a deep dermal volumetric heating, all in one pulse. By heating the collagen contained within the skin layer, it is encouraged to contract, thus triggering collagen production. What you get is tighter and younger looking skin.

What we love about the Skin Rebirth Facial are that the effects are noticeable almost immediately. Not only does the skin get smoother and brighter, you'll also notice significantly reduced hyperpigmentation. And, the skin tightening effects are relatively long term.

KEY BENEFITS Why you should do this.

- FEWER SKIN MARKS
The treatment reduces skin pigmentation, and as an extra benefit, it actually lightens acne scars.
- NO BAD ANGLES
You don't have to stress about finding the right angles for the camera because you will have a lifted V-shaped face.
- HEAT CONTRACTS
The heating of collagen in the skin using RF makes it contract. This leaves your skin more taut and youthful.
